North American Wild Flowers and Ferns

for FALL 1933

The AIKEN NURSERIES

George D. Aiken
Owner

In presenting this price list for Fall, 1933, we are departing from our custom of issuing an illustrated descriptive catalog. For this reason, we are able to make a considerable reduction in the price of many species.

However, we have available a few thousand 1932 illustrated catalogs which describe briefly most of the varieties in this list, and we will gladly send copies of this to those who request them so long as they last.

Gentiana crinita (Fringed Gentian). Again this year we have probably the world's largest supply of Fringed Gentian—all pot grown plants, some two years old, to bloom this Fall, and thousands of one year plants to blossom in Fall 1934. If planted in moist soil that is not acid and blossoms protected from frost, the Fringed Gentian will seed freely. Our strong nursery grown plants will help restore this loveliest of wild flowers to places where it has been exterminated. Price: In 3 in. pots, plants to bloom this Fall, 3 $1.50, 12 $5.00, 100 $40.00, or plants to bloom Fall 1934, 3 $1.20, 12 $4.00, 100 $30.00.

Epigaea repens (Trailing Arbutus). Ten thousand strong, healthy plants, grown under cultivation, are ready to fill your orders. Too many failures in growing Arbutus have been due to orders being filled with wild plants. Our nursery grown plants, dug with a ball of earth, are quite sure to live. Arbutus requires acid soil and prefers partial shade.
